

Donation Receipt

Federal law provides that clothing/household goods, etc. must be in "good" used condition or better for tax deductions. Suggested fair market value guidelines listed on the back are price ranges for items in good condition. Please note that items not listed are at the discretion of the person donating the items. Software programs available on the internet may also be useful in determining fair market value of property. In either case, the IRS requires proof that you made the donation and if necessary, provide documentation to support the value of that donation. Please note that the H.A.R.T. Center can not provide appraised values.

Estimated Value of Donated Property Guidelines

This is simply a guideline to assist you in determining values for your own items. Please take into consideration the quality and condition of your items when determining a value. Please understand that the IRS does not allow us to make a dollar valuation. We can only verify your gift with a receipt.
